Notice sheet for 5th May 2024 - 11th May 2024

Message from the Vicar

At the moment, a few of us who do certain duties at church, are writing down how we do what we do, so that when we hand the duty over, others will know what we do and how to do it.

This is for 'The Book of DEREK', remembering our wonderful Derek Baulch:

Church Warden and fount of all knowledge.

We often say "Derek would know..."

But we need others to know what to do and how to do it too.

Doing Everything Requires Everyone's Knowledge: DEREK.

I've written a step-by-step instruction for the projector and sound on a film night in the Church or Hall.

I think it is EXACTLY how things should be done...

But what if someone finds a different way which works? Will I stamp my feet?

I hopefully would say "show me, and I might learn a better way", and if it doesn't work, we can learn together.

To be confident of your own way is good, but we need to be open to new ways in the context of the new world around us. God lives there too!

The Founding Christians of the new Church after Jesus had risen and ascended, were working out what were the essential rules to follow and who fitted into the new promise of Jesus and who didn't. They were amazed when those outside their circle began to believe and receive the Holy Spirit. By law they were unclean, but Peter welcomed them to Baptism.

Would we be as open to new ways?
